

SAMARA SHUTER

Spring is here!! And we could all use a little bit of colour...

Hey Crew! How is everyone holding up?

I'm excited to share that I have new prints available for purchase!! For those of you who are spending more time at home, looking at those empty walls, and thirsty for a POP of Spring colour, see the "Available" link on my website.

Use the password OPENSESAME to poke around and see what might suit you!

Last week, I shared a few free printable images from my colouring book (sold out in 2015), to support the community with a social distancing/quarantine activity! Inspired by the extra time at home and the need to wind down for many, I will be releasing a brand new colouring book next month as a digital download for everyone to print and enjoy on-demand!

Stay in the loop @samshuter for the official release date and charitable benefactor of this project!

I also want to take this time to express that I am here for you, and happy to offer creative ideas to you and your loved ones. We will all rejoice again soon! (Dressed up, and out together like the fellas below!)

Wishing you happiness, health and safety!  Sam
